Governor Davidson Follows In The Trail Of La Follette With Much Success.

WILL KEEP GOING ALL THIS WEEK

Toured Western Portion Of The State Last Week In A Big Automobile, Talking To Larger Audiences Than The Senator.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Aug. 26.—So successful has been the experiment of Governor Davidson as a campaigner during the past week, and so gratifying have been the audiences that greeted him that he will be on the stump until the close of the primary campaign.

At the earnest suggestion of Frank W. Hall, who accompanied the governor most of the week, the executive will have a schedule for the remainder of the campaign following closely as possible in the tracks of Senator La Follette. At Platteville, Lancaster, Spring Green, Fennimore, Boscobel, Dodgeville and other places, where the governor spoke during the past week and where the senator spoke about a week previously, the comparative reports of the meetings of the two men and the effects of their visits have been so surprisingly encouraging to the managers of the Davidson campaign, that it was determined to almost absolutely trail the senator for the remainder of the campaign. Mr. Hall declares that the governor has a better and more effective campaign address than that of the senator or the senator's candidates. The Davidson speeches are not as scholarly, rhetorically finished or academic as those of the senator, but they certainly proved wonderfully effective on the trip of the past week. Governor Davidson's audiences have been uniformly generous in numbers and have been made up of voters very largely, comparatively few women and children being present. This has been noticeable all along the strenuous way that the governor has followed for a week. He has been crowded out of too small halls; he has spoken against the rivalry of county fairs; he has held meetings without any previous notice in some cases and in other cases with only such notice as some of those who heard him in one town have telephoned on to the next settlement; in one case, at Lancaster, a meeting was held after the arrangements locally made were practically abandoned upon the receipt of a telephone message from Platteville to the effect that the governor had not started for Lancaster. This message may have been a mistake, and in any event it is attributed by the governor to some over-zealous Loriot man rather than to any mean design on the part of the campaign managers of the La Follette-Chase candidate. Even under this adverse circumstance a large meeting was held at Lancaster and all heard from, except one, declared that it was a larger crowd of voters than that which Senator La Follette addressed. This exception was the editor of the paper which is advocating the candidacy of Speaker Loriot, and his comment was that there were more women in the La Follette audience than in the Davidson meeting. At Fennimore and Spring Green there was, utterly no other word heard of a comparative nature than that the Davidson meetings were larger and far more earnest and appreciative than the La Follette meetings. At Dodgeville last night, notwithstanding that there was a heavy rainstorm in the later afternoon and early evening, just when people would decide whether or not to go to the meeting and when farmers living at a distance would ordinarily set out for the city, there were twice as many people at the Davidson meeting as at the La Follette meeting, according to Mr. Hearn, editor of the Chronicle, who said he counted both audiences. More over there were many farmers and miners at the Davidson meeting, some coming as far as the mining settlement of Linden.

These facts of the Davidson campaign trip, which was undertaken very reluctantly by the governor and which was designed more as a "swing around shaking hands," were observed by Mr. Hall, the governor's accompanying spellbinder, and in consequence of his report to the campaign headquarters it was arranged to follow up the senator as much as possible without breaking up arrangements previously made for meetings. The governor starts out tomorrow morning as early as possible after the accumulation of state business requiring his personal attention has been disposed of. "There is not much of this, however, and it is expected that by rising early the governor will be ready to start at 9 o'clock.

Two meetings are proposed for Monday at places where the senator spoke—Mazomanie, the first stop of the day, and Richland Center. Four of this kind of meetings will be held Tuesday, and all through the remainder of the campaign, before the day of the primary election. Governor Davidson will make his plea for continuation of the program of reform, for the further equalization of taxation and for the enactment of an income tax system, for the state regulation by commission of delegation to municipality of all public service corporations, not embraced in the railroad rate commission law, for a fair rest of the primary election system in the same spirit in which that law was enacted. He will also demand that those who are sub rosa or publicly working against him point out any weak spot in his long record of public service, and he will continue to admit that if the state has just got to have a lawyer for governor he can not qualify for that office.

The meeting at Dodgeville last night was a fair termination of a successful week of campaigning. The governor, while in bad voice and almost "all in" from his hard week's work, held his good sized audience so that not one left the hall during the speech, except three small boys in the gallery who followed three young women out. The boys were not old enough to vote. On the platform with the governor and Mr. Hall were the leading men of influence in the community, among them Editor Hearn of the Chronicle and Levi Wilbur Pollard, both of whom have been and all profess to be ardent admirers of the ability of Mr. La Follette, but declared that they chose to act in the spirit of the primary election law for which they struggled for years, and vote for a man upon whom they for themselves believed they could safely rely to carry on the work of reform in Wisconsin. After the governor spoke Mr. Hall addressed the meeting briefly, but it lasted so long and the speaker was delayed so much by interruptions of applause that it became utterly impossible to follow the schedule and return to Madison last night. This morning the trip to the capital was made, but notwithstanding the fact that it was Sunday at every village—Ridgeway, Barneveld, Blue Mounds, Mount Horeb, Cross Plains and Middleton—admirers of the governor and his party, who were waiting to shake his hand. At one place the governor was detained a few minutes with conversation and he became impatient and insisted upon proceeding, remarking that "some people would be saying he was campaigning on Sunday." Black Barth is not on the road that was directed as the shortest route to Madison, but Mr. Hall chose the wrong road from Mount Horeb, insisting that he had "been over the way on a bicycle." For his mistake, which took the governor some dozen miles out of his way, Mr. Hall was subjected to the chaff of the party on the remainder of the ride home.

Digger Sam—John, this ain't my kind of climate; see if you can't dig this canal for me. Owing to the scarcity of labor, 2,500 Chinamen are to be hired to work on the Panama Canal. Others will be secured later.—News Item.

WAS IT MURDER OR DID BOAT CAPSIZE

Herkimer, New York, Young Man on Trial for Death of Young Lady Companion.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Herkimer, N. Y., Aug. 27.—An extraordinary term of the supreme court convened here today for the trial of Chester Gillette, who is charged with the murder of Grace Brown. She went out on Big Moose lake with Gillette, and he asserts that she was drowned after the accidental upsetting of the boat.

RATE LAW LEGALLY BUT NOT ACTIVELY IN EFFECT TUESDAY

New National Statute Demands Such Radical Changes of Conditions That Months Will Pass Before It Can Be Enforced.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—Though tomorrow is the date fixed for the new rate law to go into effect, it is evident that it will be several months before the measure will have much, if any, effect on freight rates. It is not believed that the railroads intend to put any obstacle in the way of the enforcement of the law, but at the same time its various provisions call for such a complete revolution of existing and established conditions that it must necessarily require some time to put the new order of things into operation. It is claimed that some of the clauses of the rate law are conflicting and there is a diversity of opinion as to how other of the provisions are to be interpreted. If the railroads and express companies desire more time in which to publish their schedules of rates it is probable a reasonable extension of time will be granted them. The railroads are expected to comply with a general interpretation of the law as drawn up by the new Interstate Commerce Commission. It is evident that before the law can become fully operative the commission will have to devote much time to settling disputes with the railroads as to just what the several provisions mean.

STEWARDS TO MAKE ROOSEVELT MEMBER

International Association Will Honor President for His Interest in Pure Food Laws.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The International Stewards' association, an organization with a large membership throughout the United States and Canada, began its annual convention here today. The association will elect President Roosevelt to honorary membership because of his interest in pure food legislation. The convention will remain in session until Friday.

CHICAGO SECURES A MILLING ADVANTAGE

Railroads Will Charge Same Tariff on Flour as on Wheat—Discrimination Removed.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 27.—Chicago in its effort to become a milling centre has secured a considerable advantage. On and after today the Western roads will not accept a lower rate for the transportation of flour than they get for hauling wheat. This action removes one discrimination against Chicago and Minneapolis. Kansas City and other Western milling cities lost an advantage which they have heretofore had.

INDUSTRIAL "EXPO" OPENS IN CANADA

Annual Fair at Toronto Opens—$150,000 Has Been Expended For New Buildings.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 27.—Canada's great industrial exhibition was formally opened today with the customary ceremonies. Exhibitors are much more numerous than last year and include a number of Americans. This year $150,000 has been spent in new buildings and the premiums have been increased until they reach a point in excess of $450,000. All departments are well filled, but particularly noteworthy are the live stock exhibit, the display of manufactures and the art collection. A special feature is the dog and cat show. Athletic games and sports have a prominent place on the program. The famous Second Life Guards band from England will furnish part of the music. In the live stock section are exhibited by Lord Rosebery, Lord Roschild and others. The city is fast filling with visitors and the management expects the attendance to eclipse the 700,000 mark which was reached last year. The exhibition will remain open until Sept. 30.

ARE TO BE WEDDED WEDNESDAY EVENING

Rev. J. H. Tippet Will Perform the Ceremony For Miss Floy Appleby and Frank A. Garrigan.

Miss Floy Appleby, only daughter of City Marshal and Mrs. William H. Appleby, and Frank A. Garrigan of Beloit will be wedded at 7:30 Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents on North Main street. Rev. J. H. Tippet will perform the ceremony and only relatives and a few immediate friends will be present.

FRISCO INSURANCE TEST CASE CALLED

First Suit as Result of Non-Payment for Quake-Fire Damage Being Tried.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 27.—The first insurance case involving the earthquake clause was called for trial today before Superior Judge Hebbard. The case is that of the Rosenthal Shoe company against the Williamsburg Insurance company. It is regarded as a test case and both insurance companies and claimants probably will be guided in their course by the decision in this case.

THREE KILLED AND THREE ARE INJURED

Great Northern Railroad Had Wreck Last Night on Its Lines in Montana.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 27.—Reports were received at the headquarters of the Great Northern railway which say an eastbound mixed train was derailed near Swift, Mont., last night. Two passengers and a brakeman were killed and eight or ten others slightly bruised.

J. K. Jensen Injured: While Engaged in Making Some Slight Repairs on the Boiler at the Plant of the Rock County Concrete Stone Company at the Foot of Main Street Saturday Evening J. K. Jensen, Superintendent, Was Overcome by Steam and Fell Backwards from the Boiler under a Distance of Fifteen Feet. He Sustained a Number of Severe Bruises That Will Keep Him from Work but His Injuries are by No Means Serious.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 27.—A frost is reported in the Iowa lowlands today, but it is not thought the crop will suffer any.

MILITARY GOVERNOR OF WARSAW ASSASSINATED

Another Attempted Murder Occurred At St. Petersburg--Trepoff's Double Was Assaulted.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Warsaw, Aug. 27.—General Vonnarski, acting as military governor of Warsaw, was shot and killed this afternoon while driving in a cab. The assassin escaped. This morning an unknown man warned the cabmen of this city generally not to drive any generals. General Vonnarski was commander of the fifth army corps, stationed at Warsaw.

Another Story.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—An unsuccessful attempt on the life of Baron Stahl is reported to have been made in Peterhof park last night, but the story is denied. Stahl bears some resemblance to Trepoff.

CUBAN PRESIDENT'S APPEAL TO PEOPLE

Palma Writes to His People That No Compromise Is to Be Made.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Havana, Aug. 27.—President Palma today gave out a statement in which he said the insurrection has no ideals, no program, and that the cries which the insurgents have raised do not constitute a program, ideal or justification for a movement. Continuing the President says: "I am not disposed to employ any other method than that of arms for re-establishment of peace. He declared energetically the government here would absolutely never compromise with any form of disturbances or order."

RIFLE CONTESTS AT SEA GIRT OPENED

Two Weeks of Shooting Under Auspices of National Board For Promotion of Rifle Practice.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Sea Girt, N. J., Aug. 27.—During the two weeks beginning today the famous rifle ranges here will be the scene of the greatest gathering of rifle shots that the United States ever has witnessed. The occasion is the rifle matches shot under the auspices of the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice, the National Rifle Association of America and the New Jersey State Rifle Association. The tournament opened today with the matches of the National Rifle Association and the New Jersey State Rifle Association, which will continue through the week. The national board matches will begin next Monday, and continue through Thursday and probably longer. Nearly forty state teams are entered, with four from the regulars and one from West Point. The new contestants this year are Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Colorado, New Mexico and Oklahoma. Victory in the national match, according to the opinion of a majority of the experts here, probably rests among New York, the United States Infantry, Ohio, the marine corps, New Jersey and the District of Columbia. Cash prizes aggregating $2,400 will be distributed among the winners.

HOOSIER MINISTER IS A CENTURY OLD

Has Voted For Every Republican President Ever Nominated—Hopes to Live Till 1908.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 27.—Rev. Wesley Borders, a resident of Pulaski county, this state, celebrated his 100th birthday today. Mr. Borders is one of the oldest republican voters in Indiana. He cast his first vote for John Quincy Adams in 1828, and from the time of Fremont until the last presidential year, in 1904, he has cast his ballot for the republican candidates. He has strong hopes of living to cast his ballot for the next republican candidate. Mr. Borders was born in Virginia, Aug. 27, 1806, and came to Indiana in 1836. Four generations of his family are now living.

GRANTS RESPITE TO WOMAN MURDERER

Governor Folk at Jefferson City Takes Steps in Murderess Case, Granting Time.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 27.—Governor Folk at Jefferson City today granted a reprieve until October 26 to Mrs. Agnes Myers, now in jail at Liberty awaiting execution for the murder of her husband. Governor Folk granted a reprieve to the woman's attorneys might appeal to the United States supreme court. The governor also respite Frank Holman, Mrs. Myers' accomplice.

STEAMER ASHORE AT CHARLEVOIX TODAY

Illinois Hits the Harbor Entrance Trying to Make a Landing.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Charlevoix, Mich., Aug. 27.—The steamer Illinois, which went on the beach here last night while attempting to enter the harbor, is apparently uninjured as yet. Wrecking tugs have been ordered from Sheboygan and it is expected the steamer will be towed off the beach with but little damage.

NORTHERN TOWN HAS CLOUD BURST TODAY

Seymour Is Reported to be Seriously Damaged by Cloud Burst Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Appleton, Aug. 27.—Seymour is reported to have been visited by a cloudburst which may have inundated the city. The streets are reported to be 4 to 6 feet deep with water and many cattle drowned.

THEATRICAL SEASON OF 1906-07 AT HAND

Asstute Managers Pinning Faith on Melodrama—Not so Much Music—This Year.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Aug. 27.—This is a red letter day for the theatres, who have had little else to do during the past two months than to keep on the shady side of upper Broadway and discuss the plans for the coming season. In the words of the immortal bard of Avon it marks the end of "our summer of discontent." In common parlance it means that the theatrical season of 1906-07 is at hand. The past few seasons have been mostly prosperous ones for actors, managers and all others concerned in the theatrical business. Now all are on edge in anticipation of another fruitful harvest of dollars. Since the middle of July every available theatre and hall in New York has been pressed into service for the rehearsal of new plays. Sometimes two plays have been under rehearsal in the same auditorium at the same time. All sorts of shows will take to the road within the next few weeks. The all-important question is, which will prove most successful this season—the plays of the higher order, the musicals, shows or the melodrama? The answer remains the secret of the fickle public. Musical comedy has been on the wane of late. Asstute managers are placing their faith in the melodrama and there will be scores of plays on the road this season depicting the trials and tribulations of the honest working girl dodging the traps and temptations laid by the deep-dyed villain. Arrangements also are being made to bring out several big spectacular productions, but these will not be put on until late in the season. Many of the leading players plan to begin their season with the successes of last year. At Daly's Theatre tonight "Maryling Mary," with Marie Cabell as the star will be given its New York premier. It is a musical play by Ed. Mark Milton Royle. The piece also will mark the first appearance in musical comedy of William Courtleigh, who has been engaged for the leading role. Another opening to night is that of the Hackett, formerly Field's Theatre, in West Forty-second street. The theatre has been leased for the season by James K. Hackett, who will run it as an independent house. The initial attraction is "The Little Stranger."

DALNY TO BE OPEN TO EVERY NATION

September First Japan Will Make Good Its Promise to the World.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Aug. 27.—The Japanese government has advised the state department it will open the port of Dalny to commerce of all nations on Sept. 1.

Reunion of Illinois Vets.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 27.—A joint reunion of the 55th and 86th regiments, Illinois Infantry, began in Peoria today and will continue over tomorrow. There is a large attendance of the old soldiers, many of whom have traveled considerable distances in order to be present.

DUKE DE ALBA MISS TOWNSEND'S FIANCE

Philadelphia Girl's Groom-to-be Descended From King James I. and Others of Note.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Aug. 27.—The Duke de Alba, who according to rumor, is to marry Miss Mathilde Townsend of Philadelphia, is descended from a most interesting line of ancestors. Indeed, he has the royal blood of England in his veins. He is descended from King James II. of England and Arabella Churchill, sister of the first Duke of Marlborough, and through her influence over King James, the founder of the fortunes of the Duke of Marlborough's family. It was the present Duke's grandfather, the fifth Duke of Alba, brother-in-law of Bismarck, who killed the United States Minister, Mr. Seward, in a duel at Madrid in the latter part of the fifties. Another fact of interest to Americans is that the young Duke

TEN INDICTMENTS IN THE REBATE CASES

Standard Oil Company Has Serious Trouble to Confront the Charges Made.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Aug. 27.—The federal grand jury today returned ten indictments containing 6,723 counts in connection with the granting of rebates against the Standard Oil company. No railroad was mentioned in the indictments.

Og, king of Bashan. Samson must have been of more than ordinary size, as well as extraordinary strength, but the most famous of all biblical giants was Goliath, whom David slew. How tall he was no account states, but he must have been most awe-inspiring to judge from the reluctance of any of the warriors to meet him in single combat until David offered to meet the re-

STILL PROCLAIM MATTER IS FRAUD

TABASCO-CHIAPAS INVESTORS CLAMOR FOR INVESTIGATION.
NOW MAKING ITS DEFENSE

Hearing Will Be Postponed Until Late in September to Give Company a Chance.
Hearing of the cases of Henry D.
Bushnell and I. B. Miller, officers of the Tabasco-Chiapas Trading and Transportation company, in which many Janesville people are interested,
who were arrested last Wednesday charged with conducting a stockjobbing scheme, has been postponed until late in September in order to give the company time to prepare a defense. The preliminary hearing was originally set for Friday. So far as the government is concerned the case could be heard at once, but the company has asked for and been granted additional delay in order to prepare a statement of its methods of doing business and of its assets in Mexico and Central America.
Accumulated complaints continue to pour in with every mail from persons who have invested their money in the concern and the government is still collecting evidence regarding the officers and directors. No charge, however, has as yet been made against the directors beyond the informal imputation that they did not use sufficient care in watching the transactions of the officers.
Attorney Prepares Statement
John M. Zane of the law firm of Shoop, Mathis, Zane & Weber has prepared a statement in answer to the charges of the government against his clients. In this he estimates the assets of the company as being worth about $800,000 in round numbers and its liabilities at nothing. The Chicago equipment is valued at $221,000, but the government officials working on the case do not believe it to be worth much more than $50,000.
The properties at Frontera are valued in Mr. Zane's estimate at about $250,000. It is admitted that the Mexican concessions, valued at $140,000, were paid for in stock of the company.
It is claimed for the company that it can be shown that every dividend paid out was earned. The entire case hinges on whether or not the dividends which were paid in stock scrip were earned. If they were not then the concern was a palpable fraud.
This is admitted on all sides. In 1902, according to the statement made, the company declared a dividend of $20, 985.
Amounts of the Payments
For the year 1903 the dividend is placed at $32,264 and for 1904 a little less than $72,000. For the year 1905 the dividends amounting to a little more than $80,000, was not paid in cash, but in scrip. The reason for this is asserted to be that the company was then engaged in completing its shipbuilding plant at Fron-tera and had reinvested all of its earnings in this enterprise.
It is denied that the company issued more stock than was authorized by its capital stock and it is declared that the books will show this to be the case.
A stockholder of the name of Lang is said to have instigated the whole prosecution. This man, it is set forth, attempted to form a company to take over the assets of the Tabasco-Chiapas Trading company, and failing in this secured the cooperation of nineteen stockholders and began the proceedings which ended in arrests by the federal authorities.
Detective Woodbridge, on behalf of the city authorities, said yesterday that he was confident that a conviction of the officers arrested could be secured.
Complaints Pouring In
"Every day brings new complaints," he said, "and we do not expect to abate our work of getting evidence in the least. The government will look into the whole subject of plantation swindles and scores of other concerns are going to be dragged in before this matter is concluded."
An investigation is being made of the history of the company's fleet. It is believed that some, if not all, of the boats owned by the concern at Chicago "have a past," and that instead of the high-sounding Mexican titles in which they now rejoice they once bore plebeian cognomens such as the "Sally Smith," the "H. B. Johnson" and like names.
The names given these craft by their owners were such as the "Sanchez Marmol," the "Abraham Bando-lo," the "Mexico" and the "Carmen." These were of a kind calculated to excite the interest of investors. Others are referred to by representatives of the company as the "Ocean-going tug Sophie," the "Steamer Usamacitla." Government officials who have looked over this orderly marine property declare the vessels to be hardly worthy of the grandiose names and description bestowed upon them.
"The mill gains by going, and not
by standing still," and stores prosper by being busy. That is why they offer you real inducements to drop in.

SELF-FERTILIZING; CROSS FERTILIZING
Sub-division of Article on "The Effect of Inbreeding in Plants" by Government Employee
[Special to this Gazette.]
Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—An article on "The Effect of Inbreeding in Plants" by A. D. Shamel, physiologist in charge of tobacco breeding, Bureau of Plant Industry, has been issued by the Department of Agriculture, in which Mr. Shamel states that many of the most important crops, such as tobacco, wheat, oats, barley, etc., are produced from seed which is habitually self-fertilized—the closest possible degree of inbreeding—while others,
such as corn and hemp, are normally cross-fertilized. Mr. Shamel says the production of uniform races of crops adapted to special purposes is the most important problem for the practical consideration of the plant breeder. The lack of uniformity as regards the individual plants in the fields, is responsible for a low yield of inferior quality. If all the tobacco plants in the fields were uniformly of the same type as the best plants, the yield and value of the crop would be greatly increased and the expense of handling the crop would be reduced so that the profit to the grower would be at least double that obtained at the present time. The same holds true in the case of all crops raised.
Mr. Shamel says the tobacco flower is largely self-fertilized, but occasionally cross-fertilized. Before the flowers open the pollen is distributed over the receptive portion of the stigma, so that self-fertilization usually takes place before there is an opportunity for the visits of insects.
The tobacco flowers open early in the morning and in an extensive series of observations, made by Mr.
Shamel, he found that as a rule some of the anthers opened and their pollen was distributed over the stigma before the opening of the flower. Shortly after the tobacco flowers open they are visited by bees, usually the common honey bees, which crawl down into the flowers, brushing against the stamens and pistil on their way to secure the secretion of honey-like substance in the lower portions of the flowers. The insects are covered with pollen in passing in and out of the flowers so that there is an opportunity for cross-fertilization, provided that self-fertilization has not taken place previous to the visit of the insects.
Abundant evidence is at hand to show that cross-fertilization does not take place in tobacco, but in only a small percentage of the seeds. The tobacco seed set normally will prevent the visits of insects, humming birds, or other agencies of cross-fertilization.
Continuing, Mr. Shamel says:
"In tobacco experiments the writer has found that the offspring of crosses of two varieties possesses increased vigor of growth, earlier germination of seed, and greater resistance to drought than either of the parent varieties." Mr. Shamel here describes the effects of some experiments he conducted recently. "Some tall," said more vigorous plants, were grown from a cross between Connecticut Broadleaf and Connecticut Havana varieties of tobacco. Some smaller but more uniform plants were grown from self-fertilized seed of the Connecticut Broadleaf variety, the mother parent of the crossed plants. All of the plants were grown under uniform conditions, both in the seed bed and the field. During a severe and prolonged drought in the growing season it was noticed that the hybrids had a better and more healthy appearance and made a decidedly more vigorous growth than the inbred plants. In the hybrids, however, there was great variation in the height of the individual plants, in the size of the plants,
size and shape of leaves, time of flowering and other qualities, while in the self-fertilized strains there was a remarkable uniformity of all characters.
"Self-fertilized tobacco seed produces more vigorous and uniform plants than seed which has been cross-fertilized within the variety," continues Mr. Shamel. "In the course of tobacco-breeding investigations conducted by the writer, it has been found that by protecting the flowers from cross-fertilization larger and heavier seed are developed than where the seed is allowed to set ordinarily, without protection from the visits of bees and other cross-fertiliz-ing agents. The tobacco flowers on the selected seed plants are covered with a light, Manila-paper bag including the entire seed head. In this way bees are excluded and the flowers are fertilized by their own pollen.
"Extensive tests have been made of the productiveness and quality of the tobacco raised from such self-fertilized seed in comparison with plants raised from seed grown under normal conditions. An illustration of the comparative height, uniformity of plants and leaves and other characters of two strains of Connecticut Sinatra tobacco grown from carefully selected seed plants of the same type may be cited. The original seed plants were of the same variety, selected from the same field and were
as uniform in height, number, size and shape of leaves, time of flowering and other characters as it is possible to find in two plants. The conditions of soil, fertilization, and culture were the same in both cases, particular care having been taken to secure the greatest possible uniformity of treatment. In order to make the comparisons fair and trustworthy, the plants grown from the self-fertilized seed were larger and the leaves more fully developed than in the plants grown from the open-fertilized seed. A similar result was observed in the case of other tests of this character.
"The great uniformity of the leaves and plants from the self-fertilized seed is of great practical importance to tobacco growers as it decreases the cost of sorting the various sizes and grades of leaves into different grades and greatly increases the yield of the most valuable grades. The total yield from the self-fertilized seed is greater than that from the open-fertilized seed, and the rate of growth is correspondingly increased, so that the self-fertilized plants are earlier, as well as more productive, than the partially cross-fertilized strains.
"The practical benefits derived from using self-fertilized tobacco seed have

AGED LADY DRAGGED ALONG COUNTRY ROAD
Mrs. Lowry of Center, Over Seventy
Years Old, Had Shoulder-blade
Fractured and Ear Badly Torn.
Mrs. Lowry, over seventy years old and a resident of the town of Center,
was a victim of a most distressing accident Saturday afternoon while on her way to visit her son, J. Sherman Lowry, who conducts the general store at Lewiston. The horse "she was driving in switching at the knocked the reins out of her hands and thus released from control started away on a brisk trot. In her ill-luminated mind she thought that came to the aged lady was to jump. She made a desperate effort to clear the vehicle, but her skirt caught on the step and held fast, jerking her back under the rear wheel, which passed over her body. Nor was the hold-even then, loosened and the unfortunate woman was dragged in the road for a distance of two blocks before some farmers along the thoroughfare happened to observe what was transpiring and ran out and stopped the horse. She was taken back to her home and Dr. R. W. Edden was called.
Upon examination he found that one of her shoulder-blades was fractured and that one ear was nearly torn off. He had to make several sutures in the latter and the fracture is so painful that the patient is unable to lie down. Despite of her advanced age, however, she is making a brave fight and her chances for recovery are regarded as very good.

JANESVILLE CIRCUS MAN'S LIFE WAS DESCRIBED.
TELLS OF HIS PROSPERITY
How He Began in the Show Business —Had Headquarters in Janesville.

In a recent issue of the Chicago Journal the following story of the circusman's life in Janesville and Robbins is given. Janesville and Janesville people have not forgotten Burr Robbins and his show and the story he tells will be interesting to many. "The Journal says:
More wonderful than any aggregation of human skill and daring, animal sagacity and general entertainment features that the famous showman ever got together is the story of the life of Burr Robbins.
The old showman, now approaching his seventieth year, lives in the most beautiful part of Chicago, his home
being made on the north shore,
where he has turned four or five acres
of sand into lawns and fat gardens.
A roomy, comfortable house, with its great porch overlooking the water, stands near the street, and here the one-time rover of the whole area between the Alleghenies and the Rocky mountains takes his ease, with his family around him.
"Come to Chicago in 1855.
"I came to Chicago," said Burr Robbins, "in 1855. My people gave me a good education, sending me to Baldwin university in Ohio, and they wanted to make a minister of me. I was to go to the Western Reserve to study, but I couldn't agree to it, of the plans of my parents.
"I ran away to Cleveland. I was a thin, slim lad of 18, without a cent to my name. I shipped as a table waiter on a westbound boat, and came to Milwaukee. I walked, looking for work, through Wisconsin, 'way out around by Geneva Lake, and then back to Racine. There I hid myself in a lumber boat, and was brought to Chicago.
"I was starving when we landed,
and I went looking for work with the desperation of a hungry boy who hasn't his growth. A man down on the river promised me a job unloading a lumber schooner, but I had to wait until the next day, the promise cheered me up, but it didn't satisfy my appetite.
"I'll tell you how thieves are made.
I met a young fellow on Clark street and told him my story. The young man said—and I already knew something—that he was some kind of a sharp. 'A little while ago' I was starving, just as you are, and now see, and he showed me a roll of bank bills. 'Come, and I'll show you how to do it,' he said, and he led the way to the old Illinois Central depot.
"It's the easiest thing in the world," he said. 'Now, you stand by I'll pick a pocket and hand the wallet to you. That's all you've got to do.'
"I stood there a minute, the boy began to work into the crowd that was landing from an incoming train.
Then, as the realization of my situation struck me, I turned, and I did not walk. I ran like a deer away from the place—on, on, and on, until I came to the river, where again I began looking for work.
"An old sailor took me to a sailors' boarding house, when I told him I had work for the next day. He promised the landlady to make good the price of my meal if I defrauded after I had been paid for my work, and what a supper I ate! My first mouthful for almost two days!
"The morning I went to the yard,
where my work had been promised me. The man was there, but he said it had been decided not to unload the lumber that day. It seemed to me that the bottom had dropped out of the world. The man must have seen my misery, for he asked me if I could pack shingles. Yes, I could. So he sent me to a coal yard where a lot of bundles of shingles had been scattered, when they were unloaded from a boat, and I went to work. I turned in and got those shingles together in good shape by half past 3 o'clock, and I was paid $1.25 for the job. I paid the landlady a dollar, and kept a quarter. And the place where I earned it, 23 and 25 South Canal street
now, I own. I paid, years ago, $35-000 for the lots, and the other day I refused to sell them for $65,000. I can't bear to sell those lots. I've a sentiment about 'em, you see.
"Yes, I own a good deal of Chicago real estate now—fifty pieces, and I have property of that kind from New York to Vancouver—including a ranch in Kansas, which I bought before the state was settled.
"His Start in Show Business.
"Chicago was just a mudhole in the late fifties. Lake street was the principal shopping street, and its wooden sidewalks went up and down, there were steep stairs to climb, or descend, every few yards. St. Louis was the great western city then, and I went there.
"I was in St. Louis in 1853 that I joined Spaulding & Rogers' North American circus. I went as a property man at $15 a month and expenses. I then waited on Charlie Fish, champion bareback rider of the world. I afterward paid him in my own show $250 a week.
"I saved money and learned and was advanced in the show. Yes, I had some knockdown blows; it wasn't all easy going for me, even after I struck the business in which I made my fortune. There was a man from down east and he had what he called 'the Boston Harmonium,' a musical entertainment. I put up my savings and my musical talents, and he put up his experience and singing, and we started out one summer. It was a rainy season, and our audiences were small. We had a run of bad luck and one evening in Bloomington, Ill., my partner said to me: 'We can't go on.
There's only $1.50 left.' He disappeared that night.
"In the morning I told the landlady that the manager had gone with all our money. The landlady gazed at me, but I said: 'Look here, I am going to stay right here until I have paid every cent I owe you or anyone else in this town.' I went out and got work on a farm and I didn't leave been so marked that tobacco growers have adopted the plan of bagging the seed heads of their selected plants. A field of Connecticut Broadleaf tobacco was tested in this manner. Plants were grown from self-fertilized seed saved from plants having comparatively small leaves, with an upright habit of growth. Other plants were grown from self-fertilized seed, the parent plants having very large leaves, borne in a drooping position.

The original seed plants were selected in the same field, of the same variety, and their progeny illustrates the possibility of securing uniform races of tobacco adapted for special uses by the practice of saving self-fertilized seed from plants possessing the desired characteristics. The effect of inbreeding in tobacco is beneficial and offers an effective means of maintaining desirable characteristics in the established varieties, while cross-fertilization within the variety results in a lack of uniformity and decreased vigor of growth.
Concluding, Mr. Shamel says: "It is impossible to over-estimate the practical importance of a more careful study of this subject as applied to the improvement of our crops. The effect of inbreeding in plants both as regards its use in propagating important and valuable characters of resistance to disease and the constitutional vigor and fertility of the plants,
should receive the most careful attention of plant breeders and others interested in this subject. It would seem that the improvement of our crops can be most rapidly effected with permanently beneficial results by following the practice of inbreeding or crossing, to the degree in which these methods of fertilization are found to exist naturally in the kind of plant under consideration."

S.S.S. A CERTAIN SAFE TREATMENT

Even if mercury and potash could cure Contagious Blood Poison the condition in which these strong minerals leave the system would make the cure worse than the disease. But they cannot cure the vile disorder; they can only cover up the symptoms for awhile to break out with renewed violence when the treatment is left off. When the virus of Contagious Blood Poison enters the blood the entire circulation becomes poisoned, and the loathsome symptoms begin to appear. The mouth and throat ulcerate, hair and eyebrows come out, glands of the neck and groin swell, copper-colored spots appear on the body, and in severe cases sores and ulcers break out, and even the bones become diseased. S. S. S. is the only certain, safe cure for Contagious Blood Poison; thousands have been cured by it after failing with the mineral treatment, Hot Springs, etc. It is the only remedy that is able to get at the root of the disease and force out the poison so that no signs are ever seen again. S. S. S. is purely vegetable, being made of roots, herbs and barks, and never leaves any bad effects, but instead, tones up the stomach and digestion and builds up every part of the system while removing the poison from the blood. Book with instructions for self treatment and medical advice free.

Unique Bible.

The most costly book in the royal library at Stockholm is a Bible, and there is not another just like it in the world. In weight and size alone it is unique. It is said that 160 asses' skins were used for its parchment leaves. Each page falls but an inch short of a yard in length. The width of the leaves is 20 inches. The covers are solid planks four inches thick.

Moral May Be Drawn Easily.

Scolding wives pay heed. A New York man saved the lives of his family by staying out late. On his arrival home at one o'clock in the morning he found his house full of gas and his wife and children sinking into unconsciousness. Had he stayed home and gone to bed at an early hour the entire family would have been asphyxiated. The moral is plain.

The Influence of Dress.

You need not, writes Helen Wolleska, look down upon the woman who spends some thought on her apparel and appearance. The way we dress is but another form of expressing our personality, and influencing our surroundings—for better or worse.

Means $ $ $

It is said that people on the Atlantic coast now think nothing of taking a run over to London. But London thinks a great deal of it.

Sun's Immense Heat.

It is calculated that only a two-thousand-millionth part of the heat emitted by the sun is caught by the earth, whose coal supply power is relatively so infinitesimal that if every bit of coal in the world were cast into one great bonfire and instantaneously burnt it would not generate as much heat as the sun produces each tenth of a second.

SOUGHT THE END WITH LAUDANUM

P. M. REYNOLDS, OF BELOIT ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

ABOUT 6:30 LAST EVENING

Wife Was Dead, He Had No Home, and a Great Weariness of Life Had Come Over Him.

P. M. Reynolds, a sober and industrious citizen of Beloit about sixty years of age, and until recently employed at George F. Beedle's coal yards in the Line City, purchased a three-ounce phial of laudanum at Baker's drugstore yesterday, stating that he wished to use it in a mixture of horse medicine. About half-past eight o'clock last evening Officer William Mason came upon the man reclining in a profound stupor in the alley back of the Coker saloon on South River street. When the officer roused him and asked what the matter might be, the man at first would merely say that he was sick, but he finally admitted that he had taken poison. Officer Brown and Officer Mason hurried him to the police station and a telephone call was hastily sent for Dr. R. W. Edden. The officers kept the unfortunate walking up and down the corridor until the physician arrived. After the stomach pump had been put into play and Dr. Edden had labored over the patient for several hours the walking was resumed and continued until seven o'clock this morning. It was a weary sleepless night for all hands at the police station.

Was Tired of Life
"No one was to blame but myself," said the man when he came to a full realization of what he had done. "I was just tired of living and if I had gone to the river bank, where I ought to have gone, it would have been all over now with no trouble for anybody. My wife died about seven years ago. I have no home and I had decided that I had just about enough of this life."

Three Children in Beloit
Reynolds was still pretty sick this morning, but he will be straightened out by tomorrow morning, and expects to depart for Chicago. He has two sons and a daughter living in Beloit. A dose of laudanum consists of about 20 drops. On a conservative estimate this man swallowed 960.

EAGLES WON SECOND GAME FROM "OFFICE"

Score Was 6 and 2—Crowd Smaller Than Usual, But Very Enthusiastic.

Before an audience smaller than usual, but very enthusiastic for the success of the home team, the Janesville Eagles yesterday played and defeated for the second time the Madison "Office" nine at Eagle Park. The score was 6 and 2 and had not the local catcher dropped the sphere after he had it snugly in his glove, one of the two would never have been scored. But in return the visiting second baseman was responsible for a run on the Janesville side. Schmidt and Anderson formed the local battery and played good ball. Schmidt securing five strikeouts and allowing but a few hits. Two-base hits were made by Hutchinson and Carle. The Bowler city players were: Anderson, C.; Schmidt, P.; Ward, 1b.; Casey, 2b.; Carle, ss.; Kern, 3b.; Hutchinson, 1b.; Bahn, cf.; Hall, rf.

SPANISH WAR VETS PLANNING A BANQUET

With G. A. R. Men and Wives as Guests at Carle Block Hall

Thursday, Sept. 27.

On Thursday evening, Sept. 27, the local branch of the Spanish War Veterans will give a banquet at the hall in the Carle block. Members of the G. A. R. post and their wives and all local veterans of the Spanish-American war, whether they are members of the local organization or not, will be invited to participate. The report will be served at long tables and will be followed by a program of addresses. The hall will be elaborately decorated with flags and bunting and all of the other appointments will be in keeping with the spirit of the occasion.

WILL BE MARRIED AT FIVE O'CLOCK

Miss Helen L. Cook of Quincy, Ill., and Robert C. Middleton of Pomona, Florida.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Riley, 2 Jefferson avenue, this afternoon at five o'clock Miss Helen L. Cook of Quincy, Ill., and Robert C. Middleton of Pomona, Florida, will be married. The ceremony will be pronounced by Rev. J. H. Tippet. The license to wed and special permit were secured Saturday afternoon. This evening they will depart on a wedding trip to St. Paul, returning to Pomona, Fla., via Cuba City and Janesville. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Cook of Quincy, Ill. Mr. Cook is prominently connected with the mining industry about Cuba City, Wis., and is engaged in growing oranges in Florida. Mr. Middleton is a manufacturer of turpentine, rosin and yellow pine lumber in his home city.

SEMI-FINALS AT LINKS TOMORROW

Baumann's Poor Playing in Practice Gives the Sheldon Supporters Great Encouragement.

At the golf links tomorrow afternoon the semi-finals for the Richardson medal will be played off by Al Schaller, scratch, and Leo Brownell, handicap 4; George Baumann, handicap 10, and Fred Sheldon, handicap 18. Brownell played five rounds yesterday, using no more than 42 strokes for any one of them. Those who have wagers up on George Baumann were considerably discouraged yesterday by the manner in which he hooked his drives in practice. Owing to the fact that the dining department has been closed there will probably be no club-night supper tomorrow evening. An effort is being made to get the Rockford players here at an early date.

BISHOP MESSMER IS COMING IN OCTOBER

Will Confirm Three Hundred or More in the Two Catholic Churches of the City.

Archbishop Messmer of the Milwaukee Diocese will be in Janesville Sunday, October 28, and hold confirmation services in both St. Patrick's and St. Mary's Catholic churches. It has not as yet been decided which will have morning and which evening ceremonies. There will be a class of about two hundred in St. Patrick's church and between a hundred and a hundred and fifty at St. Mary's.

TO BE INSTRUCTOR AT MICHIGAN AGGY

Arthur J. Clark, Who Taught in Evansville High School Last Year, Secures Fine Position.

Arthur J. Clark of 252 High street, formerly assistant secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., has secured a position on the faculty of the Michigan Agricultural college at Lansing. His work will be in the chemistry department in the capacity of an instructor. Mr. Clark graduated from the Wisconsin University a year ago last June with special honors in Chemistry. Last year he taught science in the Evansville high school.

NEWS OF CITY IN BRIEF

Birthday Party: At the home of her grandmother, Mrs. E. H. Barry, on South Jackson street, Saturday afternoon, little Miss Anna Armfield celebrated her second birthday anniversary with a party attended by thirteen of her playmates.

Returned from Ashland: Mayor J. F. Hutchinson and Alderman J. J. Duluth returned Saturday from Ashland, where they attended the annual meeting of the Wisconsin branch of the League of American Municipalities. Nearly all of the important cities of the state were represented at the gathering and the discussions proved both interesting and profitable.

New Homes in Forest Park: These are busy days in the Forest Park addition. The contractors have a cozy home about finished for Mr. Cary on the Forest Park boulevard and Mrs. M. Hickey has a cottage well underway on Oakdale avenue. Next month Thomas Edden is to commence the erection of a handsome home on the lot adjoining his present residence on Oakdale avenue.

Stone-cutter Killed: Contractor J. H. Cullen, who has the work of constructing the new city hall at Rockford in charge, spent Sunday in Janesville. Saturday noon one of the skilled stone-cutters in his employ, a man by the name of John Smith, was run down and instantly killed by the cars while on his way home to dinner.

Back to Old System: When high school opens next Tuesday morning the session will begin at ten minutes of nine, according to the old plan, and not at eight o'clock as was the system during the hot weather of May and June.

Injured in Runaway: Harry Shurtliff received a painful injury to his right arm in a runaway accident last Friday. Floyd Mordock's horse ran into the fire which Mr. Shurtliff was driving and threw him out, cutting a deep laceration in the elbow.

Automobile Parties: Two automobile parties were registered at the Hotel Myers yesterday. One consisted of George S. Garrett, Elmer Brooke, and the Misses Ida B. and Edith Brooke, all of Burlington; the other of J. W. and T. D. Gardner, Mrs. Gardner and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad and W. E. Williamson of Quincy, Ill.

For Clerk of Court.
To the public: I desire to announce my candidacy for nomination for the office of Clerk of the Court on the republican ticket at the September primaries.

SLIGHT FALLING OFF IN CENSUS

OF SCHOOL CHILDREN SHOWN IN 1906 ROLE.

THE TOTAL NUMBER IS 4,000

S. C. Burnham Believes That Demand for Higher Standard of Living is Responsible for Small Families.

Janesville's school census for 1906 which was recently completed by S. C. Burnham, evidences a slight falling-off from the showing of the previous year. The total is 4,000 and the decrease from the 1905 roll of 4,040 names is 40. The 1905 increase over 1904 was between thirty and forty, which simply indicates that the quota of children between the ages of 4 and 20 in this city is neither being increased nor diminished to any appreciable degree. The third ward showed the only decided increase over last year. In all the others there was a slight falling-off.

Families Growing Smaller

In accounting for the fact that the census shows no decided increase, Mr. Burnham offers the suggestion that the large number of retired farmers who are continually coming here to make their homes; the comparatively small element of the foreign born within the city's confines; and the growing demand for the luxuries of life and the resultant conservative attitude toward the size of families, are contributing factors.

Careful Count Was Made

One of the streets largely populated by so-called foreigners gave him several times as many names in proportion as any of the other thoroughfares in town. In another section where the onetime foreign-born had been largely supplanted by the second generation and their families there has been a marked falling off in the number of children. Mr. Burnham says that he made a careful count, extending over a period of six weeks, and even called at houses where he knew, before inquiring, that there were no young people of school age.

LAST BAND CONCERT OF YEAR THIS WEEK

Will Be Given This Week and Very Likely on Thursday Evening—Not Tonight or Tomorrow.

This week the Imperial Band will render their tenth and last concert of the season. It will not be given tonight or tomorrow evening and in all probability Thursday will be the date. The merchants are opposed to Wednesday and Saturday evening concerts and on Friday the Ringling Brothers' circus will attract the crowds.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

My nomination papers for the office of Member of the Assembly on the Republican ticket for the second district of Rock county have been filed. It is agreeable to the voters of that district I shall be pleased to receive their support, at the polls on next Tuesday.

The district comprises the City of Janesville and the towns of Harmony, Johnstown, Bradford and La Prairie.

PLINY NORCROSS.

OBITUARY.

Death of an Infant.

The six weeks old infant of Joseph Matten of 61 South Franklin street died at eight o'clock Saturday night. The child's mother passed away shortly after the birth and the child has been given the best of care by loving neighbors. The funeral was held from the home at four o'clock yesterday afternoon and burial was in Mount Olivet cemetery. The bereaved parent is employed at the Bessons and Lane bakery.

OLD-TIME RALLY TUESDAY EVENING

ROBERT M. BASHFORD TO SPEAK AT OPERA HOUSE.

CONCERT BY THE BAND

Davidson's Supporters Plan Monster Meeting to Allow Public to Hear His Side.

What promises to be an old time republican rally is scheduled to take place at the Myers Opera House tomorrow evening. Aside from the speaker of the evening, Hon. Robert M. Bashford of Madison, one of the gifted and talented lawyers of the state, the committee in charge have arranged for a special band concert by the Imperial band, before the speech itself. This particular feature will be appreciated by those who enjoy music and will add to the evening's entertainment.

Comes at Five.

Mr. Bashford will arrive in Janesville tomorrow afternoon from Madison at five. He will be met at the depot and escorted to the Myers Hotel for dinner after which an informal gathering of those interested in Governor Davidson's campaign will be held previous to going to the Opera House at eight.

Large Meetings.

Mr. Bashford has been speaking in the interests of Governor Davidson since early in the campaign. Formerly one of Senator La Follette's strongest followers and advisors he took the stump in favor of Governor Davidson and has held large meetings throughout the state in the past month. He says that the Davidson sentiment is growing day by day and tomorrow evening he will tell his audience why they should support Davidson.

Miss Frances Ryckman spent Sunday in Milton Junction.

DO YOU KNOW

That this bank pays three per cent interest on certificates of deposit if the money is left six months?

That two per cent is paid if the money is left four or five months?

That there is $800,000 back of all our obligations.

That we have been in business here over half a century.

That our management has been in the same hands for over thirty years.

That this is the only bank in Janesville doing a strictly commercial business.

DUKE OF DEVIL-MAY-CARE

"Send a man to him at once; he may know something."
"Who are these other rooms?"
Joe asked.

"Visitors," said "much crowd."
"May I see the rooms?"
"Certainly," Victor opened them patiently, one by one.

"There's no use in looking through them again," whispered Chaudron; "they have all been searched a dozen times, everything from garret to cellar."

But Joe was stubborn; he had to go, going through the entire house again. Then he walked out and stood on the edge of the banquette, hands in his pockets, thinking.

"Well, what do you think of it now?" Chaudron asked.

"Don't know," Joe never gave what the lawyers term a "horse-back opinion;" he always wanted time for reflection. He stood there for some minutes, looking down into the "bow gutter."

"Darned—if I—do—know," he came to the deliberate conclusion.

"Well, let's go around to the police headquarters," suggested Chaudron, "and see what has turned up."

CHAPTER XIV.
THE COLLISION IN PEDRO'S PLACE.
If Joseph Balfour and Felix Chaudron had been ten minutes later in leaving the Hotel Loui, Grande, they would have met Woodford Vance.

If Noel Duke had reached Pedro's Place ten minutes earlier, he would have seen Joe Balfour coming out of the hotel instead of seeing Woodford Vance go in.

And Baker, who had seen Noel Duke enter the cafe, might have reported that fact to Chaudron. But none of those things happened.

"Has Mr. Chaudron been here?" Vance burst into the hotel entry and stropped Arthemise as she came tripping down the stairs with a feather duster in her hand.

"Je parlais Français. Speak—Anglais—not!" Arthemise almost shouted these last three words in his face, as if she thought that a man who could not comprehend her dear French language must be very deaf indeed.

But at the same time she smiled dazlingly to atone for her own ignorance of English.

"Hip!leet! Hip!leet!" she called.

Vance could not make heads nor tails of the inextricable jumble which Arthemise flung at the unoffending Hippolyte when the old man finally appeared from some dim recess in the courtyard.

"Oui, m'am'selle, il s'en est alle. Yes, monsieur, Monsieur Chaudron he here—one more gentleman, two, ten minute, half hour, gone, zat way."

"Thanks," said Vance, laconically.

He walked out to the edge of the banquette and stood there for several minutes. Something must be done, something had to be done, and done right away. He couldn't stand it; the appealing glance which Anita gave him when he left the house was enough to drive a fellow to desperation.

True he was doing all he could in a left-handed sort of fashion, flogging around like a chicken with its head off, accomplishing nothing. He looked down at his strong, well-shaped hands, and grumbled.

"They're no use unless you've got brains enough to know what to do with 'em. Here I am, just about as much account as a bull yearling in a china shop."

At this moment Henny Baker came strolling down the street twirling a cane and carefully adjusting a pair of eye-glasses which did not seem contented on his nose.

"Hi say, mister," he spoke to Vance, pointing with his cane as if he were asking a direction. Vance turned, and Baker whispered: "Follow me around the corner. No, not so fast; wait a minute. Ah, Hi see," he said aloud. "Thank you, sir."

The Englishman sauntered on, turned the first corner, and waited in the apothecary's shop until Vance came in behind him.

"Out with it, Baker—out with it, quick; what has happened?"

"Sh! That man is in Pedro's Place tight now; Hi saw 'im go in just a minute ago. The one Hi told you about last night; 'e's been prowling around 'ere for two or three days."

"Come on, let's get 'im," Vance started to rush out, but Baker held him back.

"No, wait a minute; telephone the station."

"He might get away; you and I can take 'im."

"But Hi can't let those chaps at the 'otel know who Hi am; we'd better—" "I'll get him myself."

Before Baker could interfere Vance had rounded the corner again with his head down, charging, like the bull yearling he had mentioned, towards Pedro's Place.

For 24 hours Vance had been tittling at windmills and chasing shadows; this was the first tangible thing that had come his way, and he fairly lithe to get hold of it.

TRADE BOOMS IN PALESTINE.

Commerce of the Country is Showing a Steady Improvement.

If Palestine is not precisely a land flowing with milk and honey in modern times, it is still not doing badly, according to the consular report of Dr. Dickson, just issued. It is particularly fertile in oranges, which it exported to the value of $114,650 last year, chiefly to Scotland, the trade, we are told, being steadily increasing. Wines and spirits, too, are becoming important; the Jewish colonies displaying considerable activity in the cultivation of the grape, which was very abundant last year. Watermelons, also, are plentiful.

The total value of the imports and exports of Palestine last year was $231,320. Consular reports are sometimes curious in the way they lump trade together. We find Consul Dickson saying: "As regards other articles of export, there was an increase in religious ornaments and hides." It may be noted that it is the Americans who are after the religious ornaments of Palestine. People who desire to send their friends to Jericho will be interested to hear that a new carriage road will be completed down to the Dead Sea, and Jericho in the course of a year. Then, if anybody wants to send a telegram to Beer-sheba the thing can be done on the customary terms. Beer-sheba in these days only consists of 50 dwellings, but it is "rising in importance."

KNOWN PROWES OF AMERICANS.

Courier Wasted No Fish Stories on the Masters of the Craft.

A well-known New Yorker, a bit of a globe-trotter, tells of a courier he once encountered in Switzerland while a member of a party of Americans and Englishmen.

On the way over the St. Gothard Pass for some distance, the train moved along opposite a tremendously high precipice, over which a tiny stream flowed, almost losing itself in mist before reaching its course below. The courier, an extremely intelligent and clever chap, was entertaining the party with a recital of that stream's regularities. Later one of the party, an Englishman, told the others a story concerning a certain species of fish in the stream to the effect that, when it came to the edge of the precipice, it would curl itself up, put its tail in its mouth, and roll down, for all the world like a hoop.

"See here, Auguste," said the New Yorker who tells the story, "why didn't you yourself tell us about that fish?"

"With a shrug Auguste replied: 'I myself have heard the story and have told it. But I never told it to Americans—they can tell pretty good lies themselves.'"

Watermelon Makes Face Fair.

Beauty doctors are telling remarkable things about the results of rubbing the face, neck and arms with watermelon rind after exposure to the sun or wind. As economical girls don't care to waste the fruit, there is an increase in the eating of melons.

A maid may keep her complexion in good shape and at the same time give pleasure to her callers. Another expert says nothing is so good for sun blisters as to apply a slice of ripe tomato. The juice must be rubbed in thoroughly and the vegetable must be bound in place. This use of the daily supply of vegetables for lotions instead of food may cause rebellion among the men of the family, but they should be pacified when they see the fair skins of the feminine contingent. Another complexion doctor advises the use of fruit juices as a morning drink instead of salts or hot water.

Diamond Mine in United States.

Somewhere in the United States there is a diamond mine. The United States geological survey is convinced of this. But where? Nobody knows. Diamonds have been discovered in the United States in four different and separate regions, but all were in loose, and superficial deposits which gave no intimation of whence they had come.

In 1903 $50 worth of native diamonds were discovered. In 1900 the output was $100; the year before $150. But this past year no native diamond was found.

Meantime the United States is importing diamonds to the amount of millions of dollars a year.

Rules and Exceptions.

To say that "the exception proves the rule" is to talk nonsense, if the word "exception" is understood in its usual modern meaning. Even an exception does not enforce belief in a rule but detracts from it, however slight its effect. But it is quite true that exceptions prove rules, in the sense of putting them to the test or proof. If the rule is well grounded it is left all the more worthy of acceptance because it has been subjected to the investigation brought about by exceptions which challenge its validity.

The Race That Kills.

Sport—I suppose most of this race suicide business is in the summer? Statistician—I do not know of any such records. Why?

Sport—Well, the only track that does much in the winter is at New Orleans, and there ain't many of the boys that go broke there.

Long Range Color.

The Muck-Raker—Why do they call it yellow fever?

The Panama Engineer—Because the talk of it brings out the streak of yellow in so many men on the isthmus that never saw a case.

Uncle Allen.

"Many a worthy young man," said Uncle Allen Sparks, "thinks he has a call to preach, when all he needs is a dose of physic."

BLUE RIBBON FOR BRAINS.

English 'Wise' Men Will Enter an Interuniversity Thinking Match.

British thinkers, rebelling against the custom of awarding great prizes to college athletes and neglecting the thinkers, have proposed and are urging throughout the Kingdom a "Blue Ribbon for brains," an interuniversity contest between the thinkers and students, for an award of merit.

The neglect of brains and the constant lauding of brawn in the press of Britain, as well as in university circles, has called forth the protest and the demand for recognition and reward of the brainy men of the great schools.

Just what form the thinking match for the championship is to assume is not stated. Those who are urging the contest plead that nine men from each of the great universities meet in the contests. Whether it will consist of looking wise, or in oratory, in written examinations in certain subjects, they do not state. The contest may take the form of the standing long jump, or the running high jump, or the two-minute handicap, think, or the long distance think.

At any rate, the proposition is to make the event of the blue ribbon thinking match of all England and to show the thinkers that they are esteemed as high at least as the athletes. Who will be the first champion thinker of Great Britain is a question of vital interest.

WAS NOT HALF THROUGH.

Darky Pursued by Ghost Was Going to Make Better Time.

Two men in a southern town, getting into an argument made a wager that one of them could not hire a darky to stay all night in a well known haunted house, which no one would occupy.

Hunting up a strapping negro, the man offered him $5 to stay in the house during the night, keeping awake all of the time.

The negro entered the place in the evening and kept walking back and forth to keep from going to sleep. Promptly on the stroke of midnight the ghost appeared. Unlike most ghosts, this one was pleasant and affable and, seeing the man, said:

"Ah, good evening; it seems there will be two of us here to-night."

With bulging eyes and drooping jaw the other man staggered; "Y-y-y-sah, b-b-but, dey won't be long."

And suiting the action to the words he went out of the house and down the road as hard as he could run, with the ghost in close pursuit. When completely out of breath, the darky sat down by the roadside to rest, and the ghost, coming up, blandly remarked: "That was a very pleasant run we had just now."

And the darky replied: "Yas, sah—but it ain't unfin—to de one—we're—going ter hab."

Mistakes in Measuring Age.

Age is not a question of years but of experience and of the effect thereof on the body, brain or heart. A man may be "old" at 30 or young at 70. The fact of measuring age in years leads to dismal consequences. One who counts his years becomes the victim of a dreadful autosuggestion. He thinks that he should begin to decline at 70, and not from any inherent reason. So he proceeds to decline. His vigor is sapped by a date. Perhaps it would be well to abolish all records of births and never allow anyone to know his own age in years.

About Women.

The Foreman—Here's an account of two women assaulting a policeman and taking his club away from him. What heading shall I put the item under?

The Editor—Oh, put it under the heading "The Gender Sex."

Strict Stage Censorship.

In Bavaria there is a law which prohibits "kisses, passionate embraces, pressing her to his breast, and suchlike amorous actions on the stage."

He is confident that its adoption will result in a discouragement of mass play, though not at the expense of ingenuity in "offensive" work, which he thinks forms one of the most fascinating features of football.

Many followers of the game have been inclined to the opinion that the ten yard rule would not prove to be what it was designed for—the elimination of mass play. Reid does not agree with this stand, but says: "I admit that it is quite probable that we shall see 'teams' making their ten yards by mass play occasionally, but they will not be able to do it consecutively enough to warrant their in adopting mass-play as the backbone of their offense."

Another rule which will have a salutary effect on the abolition of mass play, Reid believes, is the one which practically forbids the bringing back of the line of the guards and tackles. It is very obvious to see how this rule will work out, he says, because it virtually prevents just the men who have made mass play successful from participating in it.

One of the new rules, which permits of the bringing back of any rusher five yards behind the line, seemed to many to leave a loophole for the profitable execution of the undesirable mass play.

Reid, however, makes a plausible refutation of this argument when he says that "the five yard requirement will prevent heavy men from being brought back for mass plays, since a heavy man, especially if slow, starting from such a distance behind the line, cannot get to the line quickly enough to be effective."

"Get wise" has the solitary virtue of the slang phrase—it is expressive. In business affairs you "get wise" by keeping in touch with the ads.

Reid Praises New Rules Of Football

Harvard Coach and Authority Says Game Will Be Cleaner.

The New and Much Discussed Ten-Yard Rule Effective.

Football has weathered the storm, and, according to expert opinion, it will not be the tottering, unrecognized wreck of the popular game that so many thought would be the certain outcome of the frenzied attacks against it, with the resultant reforms in the rules.

Football has weathered the storm, and, according to expert opinion, it will not be the tottering, unrecognized wreck of the popular game that so many thought would be the certain outcome of the frenzied attacks against it, with the resultant reforms in the rules.

William T. Reid, Harvard's head coach, who was secretary of the rules committee and one of the central figures in every battle that was fought for changes in the old rules, says that the game will not be spoiled, but will be better than ever, both as a sport and as a spectacle.

In his dissection of the new legislation the Crimson scribe calls attention first to the fact that the changes in the new rules are of two kinds—those bearing on the technical side of the game and those pertaining to the ethics of the sport. Although Reid admits that the extent of the improvement in the game is largely a matter of conjecture, he nevertheless reaches some very definite conclusions. Citing most of the important points that bear on the ethical side of the sport, he says:

"Based on these provisions, it is my opinion that everything has been done that can be done by rule to clean up the present game. By this I do not mean to say that there will never be any more ugly or brutal playing. That would be absurd, for as long as football remains a game of personal contact and swift action there are bound to be individual lapses in temper and fairness, but I do maintain that under the new rules the objectionable features should be reduced to a minimum."

In passing to the technical side Reid selects the ten yard rule from "a bo-lingering mass of legislation" as the most important feature of the new style of game. "Of all the changes which have been proposed with a view to the eradication of the evils of the game," he asserts, "this is the only one which accomplishes its special function without in any way cramping the development of the game as a whole."

He is confident that its adoption will result in a discouragement of mass play, though not at the expense of ingenuity in "offensive" work, which he thinks forms one of the most fascinating features of football.

Many followers of the game have been inclined to the opinion that the ten yard rule would not prove to be what it was designed for—the elimination of mass play. Reid does not agree with this stand, but says: "I admit that it is quite probable that we shall see 'teams' making their ten yards by mass play occasionally, but they will not be able to do it consecutively enough to warrant their in adopting mass-play as the backbone of their offense."

Another rule which will have a salutary effect on the abolition of mass play, Reid believes, is the one which practically forbids the bringing back of the line of the guards and tackles. It is very obvious to see how this rule will work out, he says, because it virtually prevents just the men who have made mass play successful from participating in it.

One of the new rules, which permits of the bringing back of any rusher five yards behind the line, seemed to many to leave a loophole for the profitable execution of the undesirable mass play.

Reid, however, makes a plausible refutation of this argument when he says that "the five yard requirement will prevent heavy men from being brought back for mass plays, since a heavy man, especially if slow, starting from such a distance behind the line, cannot get to the line quickly enough to be effective."

BOGUS BILLS ARE PUT IN CIRCULATION

Bill Resembles Ten-dollar Lewis & Clark Issue. But Have Some Defects.

Counterfeits are abroad in this section of the county, several spurious ten-dollar certificates having turned up in Belvidere, Ill. In view of the proximity of Belvidere to this city, it behooves cashiers and persons receiving money to be on the alert. Postmaster Frank Moran of Belvidere took in one of the bills during a rush and is out ten dollars as a result.

The counterfeit closely resembles the genuine Lewis and Clark bill, but is of poor quality of paper, and the impression of the treasury number is not as perfect and distinct as government money. The check letter is also wrong. The number of the bill passed at the postoffice is 14123291 and the check letter is A when it should be C. This error is found by dividing the serial number by four and if one remains the check letter should be A. If two remains it should be B and if three remains it should be C. In this case three remains and the check letter should be C, instead of A as appears on the counterfeit. This is an infallible test in all except national notes and is information worth remembering.

The simplest test, however, is to study the treasury number. The ink must be carmine red or blue and never faded, scale, blue nor spread. The figures must be clean cut, perfect shape, uniform size, equal distance apart and comparatively straight in the row.

If you have one of the Lewis and Clark bills use the above tests and you will know whether your bill is good or bad.

STATE NOTES.

The Commercial National bank of Chicago has been approved as a reserve agent for the Langlade National bank of Antigo and the Northwestern National bank of Minneapolis for the First National bank of Stevens Point.

Three dental parlors in Racine were entered by burglars Friday night and $100 worth of gold stolen. It is believed that the robbery was committed by the same fellow who has visited a number of cities in the state.

Elmer Pell, residing two miles west of Plainfield, was frightfully cut about the legs and feet while driving a mowing machine. He got off the mower to whip his horse and in standing in front of the sickle was caught. One hundred Racine merchants and other business men will be notified to raise a fund to help Pell in his place of business. The city charter says all awnings shall be eight feet above the sidewalks. Most of them are between four and five feet.

A case of infanticide was revealed at La Crosse on Saturday by the discovery of a new-born child in the La Crosse river. An autopsy shows there is no doubt the child was born alive and that death had been caused by drowning. This is the first case of infanticide in La Crosse county in several years.

Matt Myrup, city editor of the Racine Times, narrowly escaped being killed at Racine Junction Friday night. In alighting from a moving Chicago & Northwestern southbound passenger train he fell between the platform and a coach. Spectators believed he was cut to pieces, but he managed to pull himself up on the platform with cuts and bruises.

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH ITEMS

The new desks are here and the rooms are now ready for them to be placed. Each room is furnished throughout with new single desks—also new teacher's desks, making the whole interior of the schoolhouse look like new.

The steam plant is said to be perfect, therefore, we hope to have the school rooms thoroughly heated and well ventilated. Many children came during the week to register, but not all.

During the coming week we wish all the children who are to attend this school to come and give their names and grades in order that provision may be made for all and all things in order for the opening day.

We wish the public to understand that no child will be refused on account of creed or nationality. The school is open to all denominations and heartily welcomed.

The Sisters are now prepared for a larger and more advanced class of music pupils, stringed instruments as well as piano. Needle work, plain and ornamental, will receive special attention. Ladies wishing lessons in these lines of study or work will receive kind attention and all information by applying at the convent.

Now that the work on the school is nearly finished contractors were expected to be compensated for material and labor; therefore, we again remind our friends who are going to contribute a portion to help to meet the heavy expenses to do so as soon as possible. Contributions during the past week ending Aug. 25th: Joseph Barron, $5; Mrs. J. F. O'Leary, $1; J. J. Doe, Jr., $5; Mrs. Lacey, De Kalb, Ill., $6. The Sisters again return most sincere thanks for all contributions, even the smallest.

Our Most Rev. Archbishop Messers has donated to the convent chapel a beautiful and valuable candelabrum. It is gold with a silver wreath of wheat and grapes surrounding the lunar. It also contains many precious stones.

Friday of this week, Aug. 31st, we hope to have the school rooms of St. Patrick's school finished and the people are cordially invited to come to visit them.
